Thanks, Liz. This would be great, either on the 11th or the 12th. What we'd like is for the interview to be done by our two energy and environment reporters, Jon Siciliano and Josh Siegel, and our commentary editor, Tim Carney. We would like it to be on the record, so we could use it as a perfect launch item for our new energy and environment newsletter (we'd delay the newsletter launch to the 13th if the interview with Administrator Pruitt takes place on the 12th). We'd like to send our photographer, Graeme Jennings, who also photographed President Trump in the Oval Office for our magazine cover story of May 1. Our intention would be to write a story from the interview to be posted at the same time as the newsletter comes out, and then have the full interview in the Washington Examiner magazine that comes out on Monday, Sept 18. The combination of newsletter, website and print magazine will make sure this has a really big impact. I hope all this works for Mr Pruitt. Finally I would add that if acceptable we would also send a video crew to get video of the interview, so there would be a multimedia component too. Thank you so much for making this possible.
Best regards,
Hugo

Hi Hugo – Would you be available to meet with Administrator Pruitt on either the 11th or 12th at 11:00 a.m. Eastern? This is a time that we could potentially open up, depending on how events materialize in coming weeks with regard to the hurricane. Can you please also provide us with more details...is this just you and the Administrator or a larger meeting with additional reporters and editors? Would this be on background/meet and greet?

I am copying Jahan and Amy, who manage our press operations.

Hi Ryan,

I am checking in to see if there has been any movement on getting an interview with EPA director Pruitt. Can we talk today or tomorrow to make get things moving along.

Many thanks,

Ryan,

Thanks for your quick response. As I mentioned, Washington Examiner is launching a new energy and environment newsletter in September, and we'd love to start with the splash of an exclusive interview with Mr Pruitt. If there is a time in the first week of Sept after Labor Day that would be perfect. If you can let me know of a convenient day and time between the 7th and the 11th of Sept, our editors and reporters will be there.

Connected with this newsletter launch, we're also planning an energy and environment event in Washington for the following month, to which we'd bring an invited audience of approx 150 policy professionals. If Mr Pruitt would be our keynote speaker, either delivering a speech or doing a sit down interview on stage with our staff, that would be excellent.

Both the Sept interview (which we'd run in print, and online with video) and the DC event would be perfect opportunities for Mr Pruitt to get his message out. Washington Examiner is an ideal platform for the discussion of conservative policy ideas, as we have millions of readers willing to give Republican and conservative politicians a fair and sympathetic hearing.

Finally, I pass along Mr Anschutz's regards, and thank you for your help in this.

Regards,

Hugo Gurdon

Hi Ashley – I was just about to email you actually –
Would Bret be interested in interviewing Administrator
Pruitt tomorrow evening to discuss the proposed repeal of the Clean Power Plan? We are working on a big announcement of this tomorrow with the White House.
Some draft talking points on this are below, for background and booking purposes only:

TOP MESSAGES:

- Proposing to repeal the Clean Power Plan is another step advancing the president's America First strategy.

- The CPP was premised on a novel and expansive view of agency authority that this Administration has now proposed to determine if it was inconsistent with the Clean Air Act.

- o In fact, the CPP has been on hold since February 2016 after the United States Supreme Court issued an unprecedented, historic stay of the rule.

- The CPP ignored states' concerns and eroded longstanding and important partnerships that are a necessary part of achieving positive environmental outcomes.

- Administrator Pruitt is committed to righting these wrongs by proposing to clean the regulatory slate.

- The Agency will now assess whether further regulatory action is warranted; and if so, what is the most appropriate path forward consistent with the Clean Air Act and principles of cooperative federalism. While the CAA is a source of authority, it is also a source of carefully crafted limitations which this agency must and will respect.

- Forthcoming is an Advanced Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRM) that will be reflective of a humble, thoughtful, modest, and responsible approach to regulatory action grounded within the authority provided by the statute.

Hi Peter – Since we only have a few minutes, I think we could stick with Paris, but if he has additional time, I think the Administrator would appreciate the opportunity to discuss how President Trump is a man of action, compared to the last Administration. A few topline points below—please let me know if you need more information. Also, if you need to reach me tomorrow morning, my number is 202-309-3416. Thanks – Liz

? President Trump is a man of action, compared to the last Administration. The old administration liked to “talk about doing things” rather than actually doing them.

? We can renegotiate a better deal: Getting out of Paris does not limit future conversations with the same international parties about a better deal or approach to climate.

? The Clean Power Plan, which is central to Paris threatens 400,000 U.S. jobs.

? Staying in Paris leaves in place a mechanism by which environmentalists and Obama’s activist judges could compel the EPA to put in place a future Clean Power Plan or worse.

- o Even though we are getting rid of CPP and other economically damaging regulations, there is a provision in the Clean Air Act (Section 115) that the Paris Agreement could be used to put in place a rule similar to the Clean Power Plan.

- o Under the expectation that Hilary Clinton would win the election, environmental groups started laying the groundwork for using Section 115 under the Paris Agreement last year.

- o Environmentalists and democrats are attempting to downplay this threat in hopes of keeping the Paris Agreement mechanism in place.

?□□□□□□□□ President Trump is a man of action, compared to the last Administration. The old administration liked to “talk about doing things” rather than actually doing them.

?□□□□□□□□ We can renegotiate a better deal: Getting out of Paris does not limit future conversations with the same international parties about a better deal or approach to climate.

?□□□□□□□□ The Clean Power Plan, which is central to Paris threatens 400,000 U.S. jobs.

?□□□□□□□□ Staying in Paris leaves in place a mechanism by which environmentalists and Obama’s activist judges could compel the EPA to put in place a future Clean Power Plan or worse.

- Even though we are getting rid of CPP and other economically damaging regulations, there is a provision in the Clean Air Act (Section 115) that the Paris Agreement could be used to put in place a rule similar to the Clean Power Plan.

Thanks, Liz. This would be great, either on the 11th or the 12th. What we'd like is for the interview to be done by our two energy and environment reporters, Jon Siciliano and Josh Siegel, and our commentary editor, Tim Carney. We would like it to be on the record, so we could use it as a perfect launch item for our new energy and environment newsletter (we'd delay the newsletter launch to the 13th if the interview with Administrator Pruitt takes place on the 12th). We'd like to send our photographer, Graeme Jennings, who also photographed President Trump in the Oval Office for our magazine cover story of May 1. Our intention would be to write a story from the interview to be posted at the same time as the newsletter comes out, and then have the full interview in the Washington Examiner magazine that comes out on Monday, Sept 18. The combination of newsletter, website and print magazine will make sure this has a really big impact. I hope all this works for Mr Pruitt. Finally I would add that if acceptable we would also send a video crew to get video of the interview, so there would be a multimedia component too.

Thank you so much for making this possible.

Best regards,

Hugo

Hi Hugo – Would you be available to meet with Administrator Pruitt on either the 11th or 12th at 11:00 a.m. Eastern? This is a time that we could potentially open up, depending on how events materialize in coming weeks with regard to the hurricane. Can you please also provide us with more details...is this just you and the Administrator or a larger meeting with additional reporters and editors? Would this be on background/meet and greet?

I am copying Jahan and Amy, who manage our press operations.

Hi Ryan,

I am checking in to see if there has been any movement on getting an interview with EPA director Pruitt. Can we talk today or tomorrow to make get things moving along.

Many thanks,

Hugo Gurdon

Ryan,

Thanks for your quick response. As I mentioned, Washington Examiner is launching a new energy and environment newsletter in September, and we'd love to start with the splash of an exclusive interview with Mr Pruitt. If there is a time in the first week of Sept after Labor Day that would be perfect. If you can let me know of a convenient day and time between the 7th and the 11th of Sept, our editors and reporters will be there.

Connected with this newsletter launch, we're also planning an energy and environment event in Washington for the following month, to which we'd bring an invited audience of approx 150 policy professionals. If Mr Pruitt would be our keynote speaker, either delivering a speech or doing a sit down interview on stage with our staff, that would be excellent.

Both the Sept interview (which we'd run in print, and online with video) and the DC event would be perfect opportunities for Mr Pruitt to get his message out. Washington Examiner is an ideal platform for the discussion of conservative policy ideas, as we have millions of readers willing to give Republican and conservative politicians a fair and sympathetic hearing.

Finally, I pass along Mr Anschutz's regards, and thank you for your help in this.

Regards,

Hugo Gurdon

Hi Ashley – I was just about to email you actually – Would Bret be interested in interviewing Administrator Pruitt tomorrow evening to discuss the proposed repeal of the Clean Power Plan? We are working on a big announcement of this tomorrow with the White House. Some draft talking points on this are below, for background and booking purposes only:

TOP MESSAGES:

- Proposing to repeal the Clean Power Plan is another step advancing the president's America First strategy.

- The CPP was premised on a novel and expansive view of agency authority that this Administration has now proposed to determine if it was inconsistent with the Clean Air Act.

- o In fact, the CPP has been on hold since

February 2016 after the United States Supreme Court issued an unprecedented, historic stay of the rule.

- The CPP ignored states' concerns and eroded longstanding and important partnerships that are a necessary part of achieving positive environmental outcomes.

- Administrator Pruitt is committed to righting these wrongs by proposing to clean the regulatory slate.

- The Agency will now assess whether further regulatory action is warranted; and if so, what is the most appropriate path forward consistent with the Clean Air Act and principles of cooperative federalism. While the CAA is a source of authority, it is also a source of carefully crafted limitations which this agency must and will respect.

- Forthcoming is an Advanced Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRM) that will be reflective of a humble, thoughtful, modest, and responsible approach to regulatory action grounded within the authority provided by the statute.

Ashley is our booking producer – Amy is in the slot today.

So.. if we can set that up – and get all of the material ahead of time for a set-up piece... we’d love to do it.

Thanks ahead of time.

This is a time that we could potentially open up, depending on how events materialize in coming weeks with regard to the hurricane. Can you please also provide us with more details...is this just you and the Administrator or a larger meeting with additional reporters and editors? Would this be on background/meet and greet?

Hi Ryan,

Many thanks,

Ryan,

Thanks for your quick response. As I mentioned, Washington Examiner is launching a new energy and environment newsletter in September, and we'd love to start with the splash of an exclusive interview with Mr Pruitt. If there is a time in the first week of Sept after Labor Day that would be perfect. If you can let me know of a convenient day and time between the 7th and the 11th of Sept, our editors and reporters will be there.

Connected with this newsletter launch, we're also planning an energy and environment event in Washington for the following month, to which we'd bring an invited audience of approx 150 policy professionals. If Mr Pruitt would be our keynote speaker, either delivering a speech or doing a sit down interview on stage with our staff, that would be excellent.

Both the Sept interview (which we'd run in print, and online with video) and the DC event would be perfect opportunities for Mr Pruitt to get his message out. Washington Examiner is an ideal platform for the discussion of conservative policy ideas, as we have millions of readers willing to give Republican and conservative politicians a fair and sympathetic hearing.

Finally, I pass along Mr Anschutz's regards, and thank you for your help in this.

Regards,

Hugo Gurdon

At lunch with the administrator.

We'd love to have him on Wednesday if possible – for the rollout on stopping “sue and settle”

Ashley is our booking producer – Amy is in the slot today.

So.. if we can set that up – and get all of the material ahead of time for a set-up piece... we'd love to do it.

Thanks ahead of time.

Best,

Bret

Hi Peter – Since we only have a few minutes, I think we could stick with Paris, but if he has additional time, I think the Administrator would appreciate the opportunity to discuss how President Trump is a man of action, compared to the last Administration. A few topline points below—please let me know if you need more information. Also, if you need to reach me tomorrow morning, my number is 202-309-3416. Thanks – Liz

? President Trump is a man of action, compared to the last Administration. The old administration liked to “talk about doing things” rather than actually doing them.

? We can renegotiate a better deal: Getting out of Paris does not limit future conversations with the same international parties about a better deal or approach to climate.

? The Clean Power Plan, which is central to Paris threatens 400,000 U.S. jobs.

? Staying in Paris leaves in place a mechanism by which environmentalists and Obama’s activist judges could compel the EPA to put in place a future Clean Power Plan or worse.

o Even though we are getting rid of CPP and other economically damaging regulations, there is a provision in the Clean Air Act (Section 115) that the Paris Agreement could be used to put in place a rule similar to the Clean Power Plan.

o Under the expectation that Hilary Clinton would win the election, environmental groups started laying the groundwork for using Section 115 under the Paris Agreement last year.

o Environmentalists and democrats are attempting to downplay this threat in hopes of keeping the Paris Agreement mechanism in place.

Subject: RE: Fox News radio interview request for Scott Pruitt

Hi Peter – Since we only have a few minutes, I think we could stick with Paris, but if he has additional time, I think the Administrator would appreciate the opportunity to discuss how President Trump is a man of action, compared to the last Administration. A few topline points below—please let me know if you need more information. Also, if you need to reach me tomorrow morning, my number is 202-309-3416. Thanks – Liz

?□□□□□□□□ President Trump is a man of action, compared to the last Administration. The old administration liked to “talk about doing things” rather than actually doing them.

?□□□□□□□□ We can renegotiate a better deal: Getting out of Paris does not limit future conversations with the same international parties about a better deal or approach to climate.

?□□□□□□□□ The Clean Power Plan, which is central to Paris threatens 400,000 U.S. jobs.

?□□□□□□□□ Staying in Paris leaves in place a mechanism by which environmentalists and Obama’s activist judges could compel the EPA to put in place a future Clean Power Plan or worse.

- Even though we are getting rid of CPP and other economically damaging regulations, there is a provision in the Clean Air Act (Section 115) that the Paris Agreement could be used to put in place a rule similar to the Clean Power Plan.

- o Under the expectation that Hilary Clinton would win the election, environmental groups started laying the groundwork for using Section 115 under the Paris Agreement last year.

- o Environmentalists and democrats are attempting to downplay this threat in hopes of keeping the Paris Agreement mechanism in place.

Hi Liz

The interview would be between 10-12 minutes

Brain would like to focus on the upcoming G-7 summit/ and potentially pulling out of the Paris Climate accord

As far as the day, we are flexible both tomorrow and Friday

We are wide open in the 10am ET hour tomorrow but can switch things around in the 9am hour and 11am hour tomorrow

Same pretty much for Friday with the exception being between 11-1130am ET

Let me know if you need anything else

Hi Alexa—here are the logistics for Sunday:

We will need Administrator Pruitt to arrive on Sunday at 8:30am at 400 N. Capitol St. NW, 5th floor. We are live at 9am and he will be the first segment. Our second segment will be Al Gore (not sure yet of his location). Our panel this week is Brit Hume, Julie Pace, Jason Riley and Juan Williams.

The weekend contact will be:

Pat Ward

(202) 340-2069—cell

202-824-6369—24 hour

Patrick.ward@foxnews.com

Who will be the POC with Administrator Pruitt on Sunday morning?

Topic areas:

- Withdraw from the Paris Climate Accord//how soon?
- Reaction from world leaders
- Argument regarding Paris economic impact on US jobs
- Argument regarding minimal impact on global warming from Paris
- demands on different countries//India /China

Let me know if you need anything else.

Thanks again,

Andrea

Subject: Sunday

Hi Alexa—here are the logistics for Sunday:

We will need Administrator Pruitt to arrive on Sunday at 8:30am at 400 N. Capitol St. NW, 5th floor. We are live at 9am and he will be the first segment. Our second segment will be Al Gore (not sure yet of his location). Our panel this week is Brit Hume, Julie Pace, Jason Riley and Juan Williams.

The weekend contact will be:

Pat Ward

(202) 340-2069—cell

202-824-6369—24 hour

Patrick.ward@foxnews.com

Who will be the POC with Administrator Pruitt on Sunday morning?

Topic areas:

--Withdraw from the Paris Climate Accord//how soon?

--Reaction from world leaders

--Argument regarding Paris economic impact on US jobs

--Argument regarding minimal impact on global warming from Paris

--demands on different countries//India /China

Let me know if you need anything else.

Thanks again,

Andrea

Hi Alexa—here are the logistics for Sunday:

We will need Administrator Pruitt to arrive on Sunday at 8:30am at 400 N. Capitol St. NW, 5th floor. We are live at 9am and he will be the first segment. Our second segment will be Al Gore (not sure yet of his location). Our panel this week is Brit Hume, Julie Pace, Jason Riley and Juan Williams.

The weekend contact will be:

Pat Ward

(202) 340-2069—cell

202-824-6369—24 hour

Patrick.ward@foxnews.com

Who will be the POC with Administrator Pruitt on Sunday morning?

Topic areas:

- Withdraw from the Paris Climate Accord//how soon?
- Reaction from world leaders
- Argument regarding Paris economic impact on US jobs
- Argument regarding minimal impact on global warming from Paris
- demands on different countries//India /China

Let me know if you need anything else.

Thanks again,

Andrea
